HOW CAN MEDICAID PAY FOR THE NURSING HOME?

When Medicare benefits run out, many believe draining their assets on nursing home care costs is the only way to qualify for Medicaid. You should know—there is another way.

WHAT IS MEDICAID?

Medicaid is designed to provide medical assistance to individuals with limited income and resources who may otherwise be unable to afford healthcare. This program pays for a person's cost of care in a nursing home, less a small monthly co-pay from the recipient.

In order to qualify for Medicaid benefits, you (or your loved one) must meet a specific set of requirements.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE FOR MEDICAID?

How is your health?	What is your financial situation?
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>✓ You need assistance with at least 3 activities of daily living</li><li>✓ You require round-the-clock care</li></ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>✓ You receive an inadequate monthly income (varies by state, typically less than the cost of care)</li><li>✓ You have minimal assets (varies by state and marital status)</li></ul>

TOO MANY ASSETS? NO PROBLEM.

If you meet all health and income requirements for Medicaid but exceed your state's asset limit, I can provide solutions to save those assets while accelerating eligibility for benefits.

DOES IT SOUND TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE? IT'S NOT.
